The ring (probably including originally the fourth bell), is in Anthony Chandler's lettering; the saunce is in Richard Chandler III.'s 1.2 inch set; but all have the inscriptions below the rims, and are therefore perhaps, as I would suggest, by Richard Chandler II. (pp. 226, 232). Someone when ringing the tenor, somewhere about the later part of the fifties, missed the sally; and as the stay (as is so often the case) was too strong, it did not give way before the consequent "bump," but caused the bell to be thrown out of its bearings, with the result that it was split, and a piece broken out of the lip as well. The wheel, from long disuse, has almost decayed away. As at Hanslope, and elsewhere, the four lower bells hang round the walls, with the treble cross-cornered in the centre.

This is one of the most filthy and ruinous belfries in the county; the bells are ready to drop from their hangings, and I was kept awake a good part of the night following my visit to it, by the irritation from the bites of the starling vermin, which had here joined company.

1714, 5 bells.

The "Pancake Bell" used to be rung on Shrove Tuesday at noon ; discontinued during the sixties probably.

Death Knell tolled about an hour after death, or as soon as information is sent to the clerk. The tenor used for adults; the fourth for children under 14 (?). Tellers : $3 \times 3 =$ a male ; $2 \times 3 =$ a female. Tolling for five minutes, about an hour before funerals, and continuously for the last half-hour, ceasing as the body reaches the gate.

On Sundays, the bells are chimed for the Services ; the tenor rung (?) for the last five minutes, and called the Sermon Bell ; then the saunce until the clergyman appears in church. These usages are of old establishment.

The bells are rung for practice before Christmas ; and at Christmas and New Year there are "early peals." There is also ringing on 5th November and S. Andrew's Day (30th November), and on the day of a wedding.

There is an endowment of 2*s.* 6*d.* for ringing on 5th November.

A bell rung for Vestry Meetings.

Many thanks to the Rev. F. R. W. Malpas, Vicar.

LITTLE HORWOOD. RESTORATION OF THE CHURCH BELLS

For some years the bells of Little Norwood Church have been silent, the reason being that the fittings and framework of the bells had become so decayed that it was unsafe to peal them. One of the bells (the tenor bell) was badly cracked about 60 years ago, and unable, in consequence, to be used. At the restoration of Ike church six years ago, this work was left undone, but in the year 1890, a fund was started, which has been gradually increasing from year to year, until the spring of the present year, when it was thought sufficient money was in hand to justify the work being commissioned. By the advice of the Rev. F.E. Robinson, Warden of the Bell Ringers' Guild, of Drayton Vicarage, Abingdon, estimates were obtained from Mr. Thos. Blackburn, of Salisbury, and Messrs. Webb and Bennett, of Kidlington, Oxford. The latter's estimate was finally accepted, and the work commenced in June. On Thursday, October 10th, the village and surrounding neighbourhood was roused about 5.30 am by the sound of the church bells of Little Horwood, ringing forth a joyous peal, and proclaiming to everybody that they were again in speaking order. And throughout the day their sweet melodious tones were wafted through the air at intervals, that there might be abundant opportunity of judging how the work had been done. There seemed to be but one opinion. Everybody rejoiced. Everybody was satisfied. Mr. Webb came over on purpose to see that all went satisfactory, and he is certainly to be congratulated upon the way in which the work has been done.

Buckingham Express, 26 October 1895

The tenor bell had been recast, and the small sanctus bell, which was also cracked, was added to the tenor bell to make up the loss of metal (a large piece having been broken out), the other four bells have been quarter turned, and all have new fittings. The framework has been thoroughly made good and strengthened. The framework of the treble bell, which was much higher than the others, had been lowered, and now all the bells are on the same level. Other work has also been done in the tower, and this portion was contracted for, and thoroughly well accomplished by Mr. Gerard Grainge, of Little Horwood. A new main beam, on which the bells rest, has been laid across the tower. A new floor has been made under the bells. New louvres have been placed in two of the tower windows, and wire netting on frames, made to fit all the tower windows, to keep out the birds, which had in the past done it damage. New lead lights have been placed in the small windows in the tower, and a new ceiling underneath the second floor of the tower, of matchboard, stained and varnished, makes a neat finish to the whole work, with round bosses through which the new ropes run to the ground floor.

Little Horwood's Church Bells

After being silenced during the few years, the bells of Little Horwood Church rang out again on Sunday evening over the gold and white countryside of early June. The bells were rung during a service of dedication, evensong, by the Bishop of Buckingham ... Owing to the condition of the tower and of certain the bells, ringing had been inconsistent with safety and through the enthusiasm of the parishioners, the considerable sum required to put the tower and bells in order had been raised. The repair of the tower had been effected at a cost of £300 and the work associated with the bells cost £65, one the bells being re-cast and all of them being rehung. One of the bells dates from 1690. In addition to this work, the churchyard wall has been repaired at a cost of £36 and £40 has been expended on the Church Schools, this money having been raised by means of village efforts, and gifts, during the past three or four years ... It is hoped, a later date, to raise sufficient money to install electric lighting and to restore an interesting mural painting in the old and picturesque church. Part of the money for the work accomplished was raised by means a sale work arranged by Mrs. Last and a fete at Horwood House, the home Hr. and Mrs. Denny, also by other events in tlhe village and by gifts. The architect Mr. W. Weir, and the bell-hanger. M;. White, came from Berkshire.

Bishop Takes the Ropes

Accompanied by the Rev. J.R.C. Forrest and the Churchwardens (Messrs W.A. Davies and C.F. Grainge, the Bishop then proceeded to the belfry at the rear of the church The first peel on the five reconditioned bells was rung by a band of Little Horwood ringers composed of Messrs Joe Illing, Reginald Savage, Mark Viccars, Fred Grainge and L. Wrighton. Ringers from Winslow, Whaddon, Shenley and Cosgrove took part in subsequent ringing. The oldest ringer present was Mr Austin Curtis, aged 79, of Little Horwood, who has been ringing since he was eight years old, and whose father was also a ringer for twenty years. Those present in the congregation included Mr and Mrs F.A. Denny of Horwood House, Mrs Brazier Creagh, and Captain Jordan. Sidesmen in charge of the seating were Messrs J.G. Boots and C. Ash. There were over 170 present.
